Mayor proclaims Tuesday July 22, 2014 'Prince George of Cambridge Day'

Mayor Shari Green of Prince George has proclaimed July 22, 2014 'Prince George of Cambridge Day' in the City of Prince George.

"This city has a long and special history with the Royal Family. From the city's incorporation in 1915, a centennial we will celebrate next year, to Charles and Diana's visit in the 1980s, to Queen Elizabeth II officially opening the University of Northern British Columbia (UNBC) in the 1990s, Prince George has a connection to the monarchy," said Mayor Green of Prince George. "I'm pleased to proclaim the 22nd day of July, 2014 'Prince George of Cambridge Day' in the City of Prince George."

The proclamation states, in part:

On July 22, 2014, the Royal Highnesses Prince William and Catherine, Duchess of Cambridge, will celebrate the first anniversary of the birth of their son Prince George Alexander Louis of Cambridge. The City of Prince George is both proud and honoured to share the same name as Prince George of Cambridge.

The Mayor has also invited the Duke, Duchess, and Prince George to visit the city in 2015, wherein the city will be marking its 100th anniversary, the 2015 Canada Winter Games, and the 25th Anniversary of UNBC.
